There are certain business activities in which an investment advisor representative can engage that present potential conflicts of interest. If applicable, additional disclosure relevant to your Advisor's outside business activities are outlined below. Please note that these are potential conflicts of interest and it is your Advisor's fiduciary duty to act in your best interest. If you have any questions about the disclosures please ask your Advisor as this is an opportunity to better understand your relationship and your Advisor's activities.

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION

In addition to the description of other business activities outlined above, some Advisors receive additional benefits from CIRA when assets are held through investment management platforms offered by CIRA, which may include CIRA's CAAP program(also described in CIRA's Disclosure Brochure). The benefits received are in addition to the advisory fees received by your Advisor for serving as the investment advisor representative to the client's account. These benefits include but are not limited to discounts on performance reporting software and participation in conferences.

Certain product sponsors provide your Advisor with economic benefits as a result of your Advisor's recommendation or sale of the product sponsors' investments. The economic benefits received can include but are not limited to, financial assistance or the sponsorship of conferences and educational sessions, marketing support, incentive awards, payment of travel expenses, and tools to assist your Advisor in providing various services to clients. These economic benefits may be received directly by your Advisor or indirectly through CIRA and/or Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. who have entered into specific arrangements with product sponsors. These economic benefits could influence your advisor to recommend certain products/programs over others. Please review the CIRA and Cambridge Revenue Sharing Disclosure located at www.cir2.com for further information. It is also available upon request.

Your Advisor's investment advisory activities are supervised by Donna L. Talley. Donna L. Talley monitors the recommendations provided by your Advisor and any transactions that are executed in your advisory accounts. Supervision is conducted through electronic reporting as well as personal communications and visits with your Advisor.
